TeliaSonera's new frequencies in Norway paves the way to 4G roll-out

As announced Friday December 6, TeliaSonera invests in new 4G frequencies in the 800 MHz band in Norway. Along with prolonged licences in 900 MHz band and more 4G frequencies in the 1,800 MHz band, the investment underlines TeliaSonera's ambition to support customers with high speed data connections across the country. TeliaSonera pays NOK 626.7 million.

The licences granted for the 800 MHz, 900 MHz and 1,800 MHz bands are valid for 20 years starting from January 1, 2014 at the cost of NOK 626.7 million.

With the acquired licences follows requirements of offering high speed mobile internet access to 98% of the population in five years.

Today, TeliaSonera offers 4G coverage to approximately 50 percent of the Norwegian population (LTE, 1,800 MHz and 2,600 MHz bands), and high speed 3G access to approximately 85 percent of the population.
