

InvestorService announcement no. 1/2007
29 January 2007

The German health insurance funds have introduced new reimbursement prices for continence care products

A new set of reduced national reimbursement prices for continence care products has been introduced with effect from 1 January 2007. Reimbursement prices on Coloplast's continence care products are reduced by an average of approximately 10% comparing with the prices before 1 January 2007.

Coloplast estimates that the new pricing will reduce the company's revenue in 2006/07 with DKK 20-25m, which is in line with the expectations.

Lene Skole,
Executive Vice President, CFO
