Wannakey - welcome to Marketspace

Through centuries producers, sellers and buyers have met in a marketplace to exchange goods in a simple and uncomplicated way. Wannakey have now developed the concept into a modern digital marketspace with endless possibilities for distribution, marketing and sales of digital products – without borders, without impediments and without risk.

We believe that innovative digital products from developers all over the world should be accessible to everyone. But also that everyone who adds value to the products in the marketspace should have their fair part of the shared work in developing, distributing and selling the products. This simple and fair principle is the cornerstone of the innovative and intelligent Wannakey. Based on the idea that “you should do what you are best at – and let others do the rest”, Wannakey creates immediate synergy, advantages and returns for developers, tenderers and users of digital products.

All transactions are protected by the patent pending Wannakey-technology, which automatically ensures license rights, precise distribution of revenue and at the same time contains a simple and safe platform for exchange, distribution, marketing and sale of digital products.
