Management change in the European organisation

Brødrene Hartmann A/S has implemented a management change in its European production organisation. As a result, István Soós will leave his position as Managing Director of the Group's largest subsidiary, Hartmann Hungary LLC.

Management has commenced a recruitment process to find a new manager to head the factory in Hungary. As part of this process, the factory will be headed by an interim management team during a short transition period. The team will report directly to the senior management of Hartmann.

The management change will not affect the European production structure or the role of the Hungarian factory within the Group.
