Fixed Income 13/10

Fixed Income – Genium INET Fixed Income

After consultation with the market during the spring NASDAQ OMX has received feedback that more information is needed in order to assess the impact of a system change for the Fixed Income markets in Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia. The Fixed Income market is currently supported in the SAXESS system and the current plan is to move over to Genium INET during Q1 2011. The member consultation has provided valuable feedback that more information is needed before the market can commit to a firm date, therefore NASDAQ OMX will produce the following information due to be released during May 2010.

- A Market Model document describing the migrated fixed income market (Beginning of May)
- A migration support package will be published including (Beginning of May)
 - A tailor-made “Quick Start to Omnet for Fixed Income Users”
 - A tailor-made “Omnet API Manual for Fixed Income Users”
 - An XTP to Omnet to TIP protocol mapping document
 - Updated connectivity guidelines
- API training courses will be offered and held on request
- The updated TIP specification will be published (End of May)

The information will be published on the member web at:
http://nordic.nasdaqomxtrader.com/memberextranet/genium_inet/

Testing opportunities for Fixed Income will be available after the summer in the Genium INET test environments
