Looking for stronger growth and better feed conversion for your poultry? Corbion Purac Showcases ALOAPUR® for the first time at EuroTier

Lactic acid expert, Corbion Purac, joins EuroTier for the first time with a product portfolio strengthened by ALOAPUR.

ALOAPUR, a biobased, animal feed solution for the improvement of the general health of animals, has been developed and patented by Corbion Purac. ALOAPUR solutions promote stronger growth and better feed conversion under suboptimal conditions in poultry production, while at the same time, offering the possibility to significantly reduce the use of antibiotics.

ALOAPUR is based on lactylates. It is a new innovation in animal nutrition that has been proven to significantly improve growth and feed conversion under suboptimal conditions in poultry- and turkey production in particular. The efficacy of ALOAPUR has been extensively tested and demonstrated in both scientific research, as well as commercial farms.

Corbion's Team will be available for technical and commercial advice at booth #A24 Hall 23, EuroTier, 15-18 November, Hanover, Germany.
