

Moderate passenger record in October

Copenhagen Airport has posted yet another passenger record. The increase in October was 0.2% year on year. The year-to-date growth rate was 5.9%.

A total of 2,055,060 passengers travelled through Copenhagen Airport in October, an increase of 0.2% – or 3,402 more passengers – as compared with the same month of 2010.

“For domestic traffic, the declining trend seen during part of the year continued, and the fall in passenger numbers was due to reductions in the number of frequencies as well as in capacity on a number of routes. Conversely, international traffic continued the growth trend seen throughout most of 2011,” said Carsten Nørland, VP, Sales and Marketing for Copenhagen Airport.

International traffic increased by 1.2% in October, domestic traffic was down by 8.2% and transfer traffic was down by 2.9%. A total of 22,317 flights took off and landed at Copenhagen Airport in October, representing a decline of 0.9% in the number of flight operations.

London continued to be the biggest destination, ahead of Stockholm and Oslo, while Aalborg retained its position as number four in spite of the decline in domestic traffic.
