

Gunnebo wins an order of about 6 MEUR from La Poste in France

The Gunnebo Security Group has received an order from French La Poste on delivery and installation of solutions that increases security and efficiency in the cash-handling process. Total order value is more than 6 MEUR.

The order comprises delivery and installation of solutions that gives increased security and efficiency in the cash handling process.

The order will be reported as order intake in the first quarter of 2012 in Business Area Bank Security and Cash Handling. Delivery and installation is planned for during the second quarter of 2012.

"The investment is in line with La Poste's strategy to improve security and efficiency in the cash-handling process in all its 17,000 French branches," precise Hervé Lafranque Safety and Investigations Manager L'Enseigne La Poste General Management.

Among others, the order contains delivery of over 2,000 safes, which will be produced in Gunnebos plant in Bazancourt, France.

"The fact that Gunnebo has a local production capacity, with an industrial site in France has clearly tipped in our favor, says Jean-David Soual, Country Manager Gunnebo France. Moreover, our good relations with La Poste, and our expertise around La Poste needs and practices supported us in meeting our customer expectations. "

"We have made investments to improve the production processes in our factory in Bazancourt during 2011," says Per Borgvall, President and CEO Gunnebo AB. "I am therefore very pleased to note that we already now can see a return on those investments. Without them, we should not have been able to meet the customer's demand on high-quality delivery within such a short time-frame."
