NCC to construct water and wastewater pipes in Österåker for approximately SEK 150 million

NCC Construction Sverige has been commissioned to extend the public water and wastewater pipes in the municipal district of Svinninge in the Municipality of Österåker. The client is Österåker Vatten AB through its parent company Roslagsvatten AB and the contract is valued at about SEK 150 million.

The assignment includes the extension of public water and wastewater pipes in about 30 detailed plan areas in the planned summer area of Svinninge. A total of 1,150 existing properties will be affected. After the extension, the Municipality expects a 25-30-percent increase in the development density of the area.

The contract is a partnering contact between NCC, Roslagsvatten and the Municipality of Österåker and entails that NCC will submit financial calculations for each area. Once these financial calculations have been approved, the formal order will be made. The order total of SEK 150 million should be considered to be approximate since the order may be supplemented with some road reconstruction work.

– The partnering form of cooperation is optimal for this type of work being carried out for a longer period of time. It means that all parties are involved at a very early stage and that we can discuss the assignment together and reach the most optimal solution, says Urban Sundström, Business Manager at NCC Construction Stockholm/Mälardalen Region.

Work is scheduled to commence as the detailed plans become legally binding and is expected to extend for five to seven years.

NCC Partnering is a structured cooperation format applied in the construction industry, whereby the developer, consultants and contractors jointly resolve construction assignments through open and trusting cooperation in which each party contributes complementary professional know-how throughout all stages of the project.
