2007 annual report at www.cybercomgroup.se/2007

Cybercom Group Europe AB (publ) announces publication of its 2007 annual report – available at www.cybercomgroup.se/2007.

Today Cybercom published its 2007 annual report (AR). This is the second consecutive year that Cybercom is using an electronic platform for its AR, which was developed in co-operation with Hallvarsson & Halvarsson, a financial communication consultancy. The AR will not be published in print; it is totally developed for the web, with functionality adapted for this medium.

“Cybercom’s assignments are often on the cutting edge of technological developments,” says Patrik Anshelm, acting Communications director at Cybercom. “So it’s natural that we use these technologies in other areas, such as annual reports.”

A few functions:

- Expandable/contractible income statement, balance sheet, and cash flow statement that facilitate financial reporting transparency
- User-generated diagrams
- Audio – so users can listen to the AR
- Sophisticated search and navigation
- User-generated comments/notes that users can save and print
- Fast links to spread sheets and other parts of the AR
- Downloading and printing from a PDF file
