

South Korea's Yonsei University Health System orders four Elekta radiation therapy systems

STOCKHOLM, November 19 – Yonsei University Health System (YUHS) has reinforced its commitment to Elekta's radiation therapy systems with the recent order of four additional high-end Elekta linear accelerators. The four linear accelerators, representing an order value of approximately USD 10 million, were booked in the second quarter of fiscal year 2013/14.

"These systems provide YUHS the flexibility to treat the full spectrum of conventional radiotherapy techniques with advanced stereotactic precision," says Ki-Chang Keum, MD, Chief Professor and Chairman of the Radiation Oncology Department at YUHS.
