ÅF wins significant order from Volvo Cars

ÅF has signed a significant agreement with Volvo Car Corporation. The order relates primarily to industrial automation technology, which is one of the areas of technical expertise in which ÅF excels in the automotive industry.

For ÅF the project involves the development and delivery of a number of automated production lines for Volvo Car Corporation.

The project will in the main be carried out from ÅF's division in Olofström.

"ÅF is consolidating its position as a strategic supplier and one that Volvo wants to have on board in the future," says Per Magnusson, President of the Industry Division, with around 2,000 consultants.

"The project, which will run over a total of two years, was won against international competition," says Jan-Ola Andersson, responsible for ÅF's operations within the Industrial Projects business area.
