Arise has signed an operations management agreement with Storrún Windfarm

Arise AB has signed a five year operations management agreement with Storrún Windfarm, which represents 30 MW installed capacity. This agreement was signed following the acquisition of Storrún Windfarm by Prime Super, an Australian superannuation fund advised by Whitehelm Capital.

Stephen Burns, Head of Investments Europe and Americas, Whitehelm Capital says: "Whitehelm Capital is a long-term investor that invest in assets with stable long-term cashflows. This investment, with five years of operating history, a long-term power purchase agreement and a wrapped operations and maintenance agreement, will be a good fit for Prime Super's portfolio. We would hope that this investment is the first of many in the Nordic renewables sector."

Peter Nygren, CEO Arise: "Arise has since the company started continuously invested in the ability to monitor and control our wind farms in order to secure optimal production and maintenance. We see this agreement with Whitehelm Capital as a confirmation of our competence in this field."

Arise now manage some 450 MW thereof about 260 MW owned by Arise. The estimated annual production in the windfarms Arise manage, amounts some 1.1 TWh (corresponding to about 10 per cent of the total wind power production in Sweden in 2014).
