

PA Resources continues strategic review process

As stated in the press release “PA Resources’ board of directors decides to continue with the reorganisation” dated 15 April 2015, the board of directors have been reviewing its strategic options as part of the corporate reorganisation process. Following significant progress in the corporate reorganisation, the strategic review process is now entering a more formal and active phase.

The aim of the process is to explore the company’s different options with regards to maximising the value in the interest of the company’s different stakeholders. The options being explored are long-term funding for all or part of the business, a corporate transaction or the divestment of individual assets or business units. The review process is expected to be ongoing throughout the remainder of 2015.
