Episurf Medical appoints Rosemary Cunningham Thomas as new CEO

Episurf Medical appoints Rosemary Cunningham Thomas as the company's new CEO. Rosemary has more than 25 years of experience holding various positions in the pharmaceutical and medical technology industry, primarily focusing on the European and North American markets. She has led and driven the development of both large globally listed companies and small newly established VC backed investments. Rosemary assumes her position as the new CEO on 29 June 2015.

Rosemary Cunningham Thomas has broad experience leading companies through critical growth stages to become industry-leading players with good profitability. She has been the CEO of UK-based ToHealth Ltd., interim CEO of FreeHand 2010 Ltd. and European President & General Manager of Galil Medical. Prior to that, she was Sales and Marketing Director for CR Bard, Inc., listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Rosemary has also held several key positions at Smiths Industries Med Systems (now Smiths Medical) listed on the FTSE 100, as Speciality Business Unit Manager, Sales and Marketing Director and Clinical Development Specialist responsible for commercial partnerships. Rosemary has an educational background in pharmacy and economics.

"We are delighted to welcome Rosemary Cunningham Thomas as the new CEO of Episurf Medical. The company is in a growth phase with a strong focus on sales and marketing in Europe and eventually North America. Rosemary's experience in leading organizations to profitability and generating growth in international markets will be valuable to Episurfs continued development", comments Saeid Esmaeilzadeh, Chairman of Episurf Medical AB.

"Episurf Medical has a very interesting platform technology addressing a growing global market. What attracted me is the company's innovative technology, broad patent portfolio and unique know how in personalized treatments for people with joint problems. I'm very glad to be joining Episurf and believe that my experience has well equipped me to lead the company towards becoming an industry leader and a pioneer in the field of patient specific orthopedic treatments", says Rosemary Cunningham Thomas.
