Rejlers has signed a contract with Norkring AS for operation and maintenance

Rejlers Norge AS has signed a contract with Norkring AS for the operation and maintenance of their nationwide terrestrial network in Norway. The agreement is valid for five years and has a value of several hundred million Norwegian crowns (NOK). Rejlers will recruit around 100 new employees in connection with the contract.

Norkring AS is by 100 percent owned by Telenor Broadcast Holding AS and the company operates a large number of broadcasting transmission stations. Norkring is Norway's largest provider of terrestrial broadcasting services and digital television services.

Rejlers Norge is a rapidly growing engineering consultancy firm. Rejlers only made its entry into Norway a few years ago, but has already managed to position itself well in key growth areas within its sectors. Rejlers Norge AS is a subsidiary of Rejlers AB. The Norwegian company now has 250 employees and turnover exceeding NOK 300 million.

"We are looking forward to establishing a close collaboration with Norway's largest broadcasting services supplier. Our experience and expertise in operating and maintaining nationwide communications networks makes us confident in our ability to deliver. We are delighted to have been selected", says Morten Thorkildsen, CEO of Rejlers Norge AS.
