IV. INFORMATION ABOUT THE ISSUER'S AND ITS GROUP COMPANIES' ACTIVITY

12. Overview of the Issuer and its group activity

The growth of Lithuanian economy according to Statistics Lithuania in the second quarter of 2015 has slowed down to 1.3 percent year-on-year. Quarter-on-quarter growth was 0.6 percent. Positive result indicates that despite geopolitical tension and export sanctions Lithuania was able to avoid recession. However taking into account the economic growth slowdown the Bank of Lithuania revised its GDP forecasts for 2015 to 2.0 percent from the previous 2.7 percent, as stated in the economic overview published by the Bank of Lithuania Lithuanian economy overview: June 2015.

According to the comment by SEB published on July 2015, Lithuanian economy growth in the second quarter of 2015 was still relatively low due to unsolved issues such as trade sanctions and plummeting purchasing power of Russia. Export during the first five months of 2015 compared to the same period last year decreased by 4 percent, while import grew by 1.3 percent.

On the other hand economic growth was saved by internal consumption. The main driving forces of it are moderately improving unemployment rate, which has decreased by 0,6 percentage point compared to the first quarter of 2015 (10 percent) and reached 9.4 percent in the end of the second quarter and drop in consumer price index (CPI) which compared to the respective period last year was down by 0.7 percent. The biggest negative impact on prices due to high assigned weights in the CPI had plummeting prices of natural resources. On the other hand, prices of some products and especially services have increased after the adoption of euro, as stated in the SEB overview", however these carry low weights in the CPI and therefore in the overall index we see a decline in consumer prices.

According to the forecasts prepared by the Bank of Lithuania, Lithuanian economy development should be impacted by contrary factors. As stated in the forecasts in 2015 economy should grow by 2.0 percent and in 2016 by 3.4 percent. The main positive driving factors possibly will be sustainable recovery of Eurozone countries, growth of sectors oriented in internal consumption, decreasing unemployment, growing average wage and due to before mentioned reasons stable prices. However, there will possibly be plenty of negative factors too. Some of these are geopolitical tension with Russia might persist which means continued sanctions on export and weakening purchasing power in Russia and the second one is world economy growth forecasts being revised to the lower growth rates.

Despite the slowing down in economic growth rate, the Lithuanian stock market showed solid results:
