Remarkable gains for MTV with Cybercom Cloud

Leading Finnish media company MTV has chosen Cybercom and its cloud solution for systems deployment and support services, including migration to the Red Hat JBoss application server environment. The agreement is valid until further notice.

"We are pleased with our co-operation with Cybercom, and we strongly trust their expertise in deployment and support and cloud services. Shifting to a Cybercom Cloud and JBoss cloud environment is a cost-effective, sustainable solution for us. We need 24/7 support for our rapidly growing online channels, and we see Cybercom as a trusted business partner", says Risto Koivula, CTO of MTV Oy.

MTV is a Finnish media company that broadcasts news and provides entertainment and experiences 24 hours a day. Finland's leading TV, radio and online media channels are all members of the MTV family. The most well-known brands are MTV3, Sub and AVA, the radio station Radio Nova, the pay TV channel MTV Total, as well as mtv.fi and MTV Katsomo on the web.

"MTV is an important client for us, and we have had a successful relationship with them for over 15 years. We are happy to engage in even closer cooperation, and with Cybercom Cloud, we are able to provide them with a business solution that supports their business as well as provides cost efficiency", says Petteri Puhakka, managing director of Cybercom Finland.

As well as the application migrations to be completed in 2015, Cybercom is designing, implementing and maintaining MTV's business-critical digital consumer-based web services such as MTV.fi, Katsomo.fi and Luukku.com.

Cybercom provides cloud capacity at a number of service and availability levels. We can customise optimal, cost-effective solutions that cater for our clients' needs. Cybercom's cloud service allows our clients to conveniently manage their cloud servers through an easy-to-use client portal. In addition, Cybercom Finland is a certified Red Hat Premier Business Partner and has built and maintained several demanding web services with Red Hat products.
