

Vigmed takes over supply chain operations and ships first order out of new warehouse

Today Vigmed shipped its first order out of the newly established warehouse in South of Sweden.

As previously communicated, preparations have been underway since January for Vigmed to take over the Supply Chain operations from its partner MBH in Denmark.

In connection with the takeover, Vigmed has moved its European warehousing operations.

“We are very pleased to announce that from now Vigmed will be handling all supply chain operations ourselves. We have had a great start and the first orders have just been shipped”, says Vigmed Sales Director, Mike Dooley.

“This move will enable us to continue growing our company and to better support the demands of our customers”, says Supply Chain Director, Elisabeth Andersson. “The new warehouse is conveniently located in the south of Sweden, not far from our head office, which enables us to have close and regular contact with the facilities”.
