Addnode Group renews SEK 75 million contract with German industry leading car manufacturer

STOCKHOLM, JANUARY 26, 2016 – Addnode Group’s subsidiary, TechniaTranscat, one of the European leading suppliers of Product Lifecycle Management (PLM) solutions has renewed the contract with a German industry leading car manufacturer. The projected order value is approximately SEK 75 million over three years.

TechniaTranscat has been supplying products and services to the German car manufacturer for several years. The renewed contract includes a wide set of services to improve the usage of the existing PLM system. The contract, which has an extended business scope, includes consulting, education and support. The major part of the delivery is based on a Service Level Agreement (SLA) delivery model.

- “This is a validation of our strong delivery capacity and knowledge within the PLM segment and our strong local presence in the automotive clusters of Germany”, said Jonas Gejer, CEO TechniaTranscat and President Addnode Group PLM.
- “Germany is an interesting market with a significant growth over the past years. The acquisition of Transcat PLM last year was a well-considered move to position ourselves as a leading PLM company. This contract is both a strong validation of our offering and an acknowledgement of our competence within the industry”, said Staffan Hanstorp, President and CEO Addnode Group.
