CEO's comments

”The quarter has been challenging in terms of orders received which totalled SEK 727 million, corresponding to an organic growth of -10.3 %. The low orders received is primarily due to the time lag in major projects in North America, which resulted in no major orders booked in this market during the quarter. The number of projects tendered for in North America is still at a good level, but it is difficult to predict when these projects will be taken forward.

APAC has shown a continued positive trend in orders received during the quarter, above all in China. We are prepared to invest in Asia but recognise at the same time that profitability in the business segment is not satisfactory. As stated previously, we are therefore implementing measures to further review our operations in the region and to adapt our offering to a greater extent to the market conditions. These measures have already given rise to some improvement during the quarter.

Within the EMEA region, core business continued well. Adjusted for the order received for an aluminium smelter in the UK during Q2 2015, order value SEK 30 million, then the order book has grown organically by around 6%, which is pleasing. In addition, profitability continued to be boosted in the EMEA region, which makes this the most profitable quarter ever and this is largely related to the efficiency programmes that have been carried out.

Profitability in the group has continued to develop positively during the quarter driven by better volume and good development of gross margins. Cash flow from operations during the second quarter of the year has also been satisfactory.”

Development per operating segment

EMEA

Order intake in regard to product sales and smaller projects saw a positive trend in the quarter. The fact that total orders received is somewhat lower than the same period last year is due to the challenging comparative figures after the major order from a UK aluminium smelter that was booked in Q2 2015. Adjusted for this order, the organic growth in orders received is around 6%. Sales during the quarter are in line with Q2 2015 at the same time as the consistent efficiency work in the business segment and a favourable product mix have meant that profitability has been boosted.

General market situation

There are still no clear signs of an economic recovery within the EMEA region. Industrial investments are at a historically low level and the UK's decision to leave the EU is contributing to increased uncertainty about the development in the region.

Development per country

Several of the markets in the EMEA region showed a positive development during the quarter. In Poland, the order book continued to grow, due among other things to orders for medium-sized projects from the timber industry and the automotive industry. In Southern Europe, Spain in particular, saw strong development during the quarter. The business segment's distributor markets also had a very strong order intake in the second quarter.

Development in Germany, the Nordic region and Benelux has been more reserved during the second quarter.

The UK and Ireland saw a significant fall in orders received, due primarily to a challenging comparative situation with the same quarter in 2015 when a major order was received from an aluminium smelter in the UK. The result of the UK's Brexit referendum has considerably increased uncertainty about the country's economic development. Sales in the UK account for around 10 per cent of EMEA's total sales.

Incoming orders for the quarter amounted to SEK 386.5m, which organically is a decrease of 0.8 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Incoming orders for the first six months, organically decreased by 2.7 per cent compared to last year.

Net sales for the quarter amounted to SEK 368.2m, which organically is an increase of 4.1 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Net sales for the first six months showed an organic increase of 0.3 per cent, compared to last year.

APAC

The order book continued to strengthen during the second quarter, including a substantial order for equipment for flue gas treatment for the Chinese district heating market. Sales also saw a positive trend in the quarter.

General market situation

There are still significant opportunities within the APAC region, although certain industrial segments are characterised by weaker demand and lengthy decision-making processes. In China, the new environmental legislation that came into force on 1 January 2016 means an increased focus on reducing emission levels. There is however, a time lag before this will lead to actual investments. India continues to show strong economic development and economic reforms that have been announced are expected to have a positive impact on willingness to invest on the part of industry.

Development per country

In China, distributor sales have developed strongly during the two first quarters of the year. It is pleasing that a couple of major projects have been booked as orders during the second quarter, including Nederman being able to book a significant order for equipment for flue gas treatment. In South-East Asia, the development was modest. Thailand continued to be weak and Indonesia saw a slightly weaker development during the second quarter. The commodity-dependent Australian economy continues to be characterised by weak demand, but we can discern some stabilisation during the quarter.

In Thailand, as has been reported earlier, a restructuring of product supply is being implemented in order to create a higher degree of flexibility as an adaptation to the weaker demand. In Australia too, as reported earlier, Nederman has implemented measures to streamline operations. These measures have already had an effect in the second quarter.

Incoming orders for the quarter amounted to SEK 107.9m, which organically is an increase of 51.0 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Incoming orders for the first six months organically increased by 32.4 per cent, compared to last year.

Net sales for the quarter amounted to SEK 95.5m, which organically is an increase of 13.8 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Net sales for the first six months, organically increased by 12.8 per cent, compared to last year.

Americas

Orders received fell organically during the quarter by 35 percent. This is due primarily to the lack of major projects in North America. Sales and profitability were weaker than in the corresponding period in 2015.

General market situation

USA reported lower industrial production and uncertainty linked to the US presidential election. This, together with lower activity within the mining and energy sector, has led to a fall in demand for large systems. The new American import duties on steel from China are expected to lead in the long-term to improved business opportunities within the country's metal industries. The prospects for growth in Mexico are good for the rest of 2016, while the Brazilian economy remains weak. The authorities' stricter requirements for compliance with the country's tough environmental legislation continue however to create a good climate for Nederman's operations in Brazil.

Development per country

The USA market continues to be characterised by long drawn out decision-making processes, which has had a very negative effect on sales of large systems, while product sales and the aftermarket have shown a more stable trend. In Brazil, Nederman has experienced a more reserved development during the quarter, which has also been the case in Mexico. Canada, on the other hand, has seen good growth after a period of falling demand. The positive trend in Canada is being driven by, among other factors, an agreement with a nationwide distributor within the welding segment.

During the quarter, Nederman decided to close down an ancillary business operation that manufactured shock-absorbing cabinets for electronic equipment. The business operation was part of the acquisition of EFT in 2012. Several of the major contracts which were taken over from EFT are about to end and it is now an appropriate time to close down the operation that is completely outside Nederman's core business activity. In 2015 turnover amounted to SEK 49 million with a negative operating result. Turnover for the first half of 2016 totalled SEK 11 million with a negative operating result. The closing down of this operation entails a small one-off cost, which has been charged against operating result for the quarter.

Incoming orders for the quarter amounted to SEK 232.1m, which organically is a decrease of 35.3 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Incoming orders for the first six months organically decreased by 22.5 per cent, compared to last year.

Net sales for the quarter amounted to SEK 306.8m, which organically is a decrease of 8.8 per cent, compared to the same quarter last year.

Net sales for the first six months, organically decreased by 5.2 per cent, compared to last year.

Outlook

In comparison with the latest assessment of the prospects for the future, the most important change is the market situation in the USA. Industrial production has continued its downturn since summer 2015. We discern longer decision-making processes in regard to investment projects, weak development within energy-related sectors as well as a more volatile demand within product and distribution sales. However, there continue to be positive signs for private consumption and employment for example. The conclusion is that more uncertainty has arisen concerning demand in the North American market.

We continue to see a reserved optimism within the EMEA region, but the Brexit decision adds more uncertainty, not only in the UK, but also for other parts of the EMEA region.

In the APAC region, uncertainty remains in the short-term perspective, but as before we see that the need for investment in environmental technology remains high.

Extraordinary General Meeting of Shareholders

The Nomination Committee, with representatives from the three largest shareholders who represent around 55% of the votes in the company, have continued to work after the AGM to find another suitable Board member. The Nomination Committee has asked Gunilla Fransson and she has accepted the assignment. Gunilla Fransson has a background from Ericsson and SAAB and is broadly experienced in management, technology, sales, acquisitions and international operations. In view of this, the Board of Directors will convene an Extraordinary General Meeting Shareholders on 7 September 2016 in order to increase the number of Board members from seven to eight and to decide to elect the proposed candidate to the Board of Directors. The notification of the meeting will be sent out within the statutory period during August 2016.

*) The Group holds financial instruments in the form of currency futures that are recorded at fair value in the balance sheet. The fair value of currency futures is determined by discounting the difference between the contracted forward rate and the forward rate that can be subscribed on the closing date for the remaining contracted period. Discounting is made using market rates. The fair value for all contracts has been determined from directly or indirectly observable market data, i.e. level 2 according to IFRS 7. For other financial instruments, the fair value and the book value are materially consistent. For further information, refer to note 24 in the 2015 Annual Report.

NOTE 2 Acquisitions

The acquisition analysis of the 2015 acquisition of National Conveyors Company Inc. (NCC) has been adjusted by SEK 5.2 million mainly due to the adjustment of the purchase price after the final calculation of net working capital. The adjustment has reduced goodwill by the same amount.

NOTE 3 Alternative performance measures

In addition to information on our reported IFRS results, we provide certain information on an underlying business performance basis. We believe that our underlying business performance measures provide meaningful supplemental information to both management, investors and other stakeholders. These underlying business performance measures should not be viewed in isolation or as substitutes to the equivalent IFRS measures, but should be used in conjunction with the most directly comparable IFRS measures in the reported results. This is a consistent application compared to previous periods.

The following underlying business measures are used:

Adjusted operating profit	Net debt/equity ratio
Adjusted operating profit margin	Return on shareholders' equity
EBITDA	Return on operating capital
Adjusted EBITDA	Net debt/Adjusted EBITDA
