Episurf Medical obtains its first granted patent in Australia

Episurf Medical is obtaining a granted patent in Australia. The Australian IP Office has issued a notice of allowance for the patent and has published the decision on September 15, 2016. This is the first time Episurf obtains a granted patent in Australia.

The patent covers a surgical drilling guide with a functionality for depth adjustments. This guide constitutes a component of Episurf's toolkit for implantation of patient specific joint implants.

"To look forward and secure intellectual property protection in new markets is an important field for an expanding company", comments Rosemary Cunningham Thomas, CEO of Episurf Medical.
