Investment Portfolio Structure. The Sub-fund's assets are invested in share certificates of open-end funds; up to 40% of the Sub-fund's assets can be invested in equity securities or investment funds investing in equity securities, including ETFs.

Income of the Sub-fund consists of appreciation of share certificates and shares, as well as dividends received. Income derived from the Sub-fund's assets is retained for further investments.

Investment procedure. When making investment decisions, the Company analyzes financial instruments aiming to select the most appropriate securities with the highest growth potential.

Profitability Standard. The Company does not compare the Sub-fund's performance indicators against any particular benchmark.

Base Currency of the Sub-fund: EUR (Euro).

Transactions with Derivatives. For hedging against the risk of fluctuations in the market value of the Sub-fund's assets or in order to generate profit, the following derivative transactions are permitted on the account of the Fund: futures, forwards, plain vanilla options and swaps traded on regulated and unregulated markets. As per EU Regulation 2015/2365 the Fund will not make use of securities financing transactions.

The Investor's Income is reflected in the increase or decrease in the value of share certificates. The value of share certificates is determined on each business day. The investor may request the Company to repurchase share certificates of the Sub-fund, or to sell them on the over-the-counter market. The Company is obliged to repurchase share certificates of the Sub-fund from the investor upon the investor's request.

Transactions with share certificates of the Fund. Applications for repurchasing share certificates of the Sub-fund may be submitted to the Company or to the distributor of the Fund on any business day.

Preferred investment period. Given the volatility of investments and the long-term investment strategy of the Sub-fund, the Sub-fund is more suitable for investors willing to invest for a time period of at least 3 years.

Risk and Reward Profile

Synthetic Indicator indicatively shows the volatility of the Fund's profitability; the higher this indicator, the higher the potential reward; at the same time it involves a higher risk to suffer losses. Synthetic Indicator of the Fund is based on historical performance of the Fund and may change in future. The lowest category of the indicator does not mean that the investments in the Fund are not exposed to risk.

The Sub-fund belongs to risk and reward category 3, because the historical annualized volatility of its yield has been below average (between 2% and 5%). The specified risk category may shift over time and its current value does not guarantee a similar risk and reward ratio in future.

The historical volatility of the Sub-fund's yield does not fully reflect the particular market conditions and the specific investment strategy focused on investing in the developing countries, as well as potential consequences of contingent events possibly increasing exposure to risks relevant to investing in the Sub-fund:

General market risk. The price of securities as well as the income derived from them may change due to factors related to interest rate fluctuations (in case of debt securities) or wide-ranging changes in the capital market (in case of equities) and not to any particular issuer of securities.

Currency Risk. A considerable share of the assets may be denominated in currencies that differ from the base currency of the Fund which may result in significant fluctuations of the Fund's value.

Foreign Investment Risk. Investments in markets of developing countries are associated with increased exposure to currency and information availability risk, as well as the risk inherent in custody of financial instruments issued abroad.

Counterparty Risk. A possibility to suffer losses if the counterparty defaults on its obligations before the final settlement towards servicing cash flow of the transaction.
