CEO comments

Loomis has a long and successful history and today holds the position as the world's leading specialist in cash handling with more than 23,000 employees operating in over 400 branches in more than 20 countries. Since the IPO in 2008, Loomis has grown from SEK 11.3 billion in revenue and an operating margin of 6.6 percent, to revenues of SEK 16.1 billion and an operating margin of 10.6 percent in 2015. Meanwhile, the market capitalization has evolved from just over SEK 4 billion upon the listing in 2008, to about SEK 17.1 billion today.

Cash is an important part of society. Today, more than three quarters of all transactions in the world are made with cash, and the amount of cash in the world increases with about 1 percent per year. We can conclude that, despite an increasing share of alternative means of payment methods, the amount of cash globally continues to increase. Cash still represents a very large proportion of total number of transactions made. Our view is that this will persist for a long time. In addition, the global outsourcing trend of cash management services has just begun. All in all, these opportunities give us great reassurance in a continued good development for Loomis and its shareholders.
